Other language (Polish, English, French, German, Spanish, Italian, Russian, Portuguese) UserInterface, Ad-Aware Internet(rootkit), Exploits.Tracker, Malware, Spyware.MAKER: Spyware, Internet Explorer(rootkit), Java, Trojan, Downloader, Virus.This is malware Maker. A "rootkit", in general, is a system file that is installed by a malicious software in order to conceal the true identity of that software. In this case, "MAKER" has been installed by the malware in order to launch when "Windows Update" is run. This will cause the currently running program to be replaced by an instance of "MAKER" that will continue its task while the original program is stopped. The point of this is to allow the malware to continue running even if the user cancels the "Windows Update" run. MAKER appears as a System driver (a driver that makes the hardware or software on the PC work better) in order to run on Windows 2000/XP/Vista/7 Once the "MAKER" is activated, it will start to "Scan" your computer for viruses, "Malware" and also "Spyware" using Anti-Virus and Anti-Spyware softwares installed in your system. You can stop MAKER from monitoring your system by closing this window. After the "MAKER" is stopped, "MAKER" window will no longer appear. However, it will still remain in the "C:\WINDOWS\system32\drivers" directory. If you wish to delete "MAKER" from your computer then please follow the steps below: 1. Go to "C:\
