What's New In MellowPlayer?

If you frequently use multiple online streaming services for listening to music, you can turn to MellowPlayer, a tool specially designed to provide cloud music integration for your desktop. It can connect to 8tracks, Deezer, Google Play Music, HearThisAt, Jamendo, Radionomy, Tidal, TuneIn, ympd and YouTube via an account. The application has familiar audio navigation controls, allowing you to easily stop the current track or load the next one in the playlist just like operating a regular audio player. Cloud music integration for your desktop MellowPlayer creates an icon in the systray area and gets minimized there on close, giving you the possibility to carry on with your typical desktop activity while listening to music and effortlessly reaching the control buttons anytime. Once you reach the main app window, you can choose the service to use, then log in with your account wherever this is required. For example, it's not mandatory for YouTube, so you can play YouTube clips without account login. Audio player controls with systray minimization The navigational buttons are for playing the previous and next song in the playlist, refreshing the web page, seeking a position, viewing history of played songs, and disabling notifications. As far as other program settings are concerned, you can hide the systray icon, edit appearance details when it comes to the accent, background, foreground and others, disable notifications when a new song starts playing, when the player has paused or resumed, as well as remap hotkeys for pausing and resuming, adding to favorites, viewing listening history, and more.

---
